

Where were you 30 years ago?

30 years ago was when the self storage industry came together as a whole, it was before the digital age. It was before the industry realised how big it was going to be, how vital the foundations established then, would be today.

The SSAA is ensuring these stories, and memories are captured, for now, and the future, with videos and articles with the SSAA Foundation and Life Members.

The videos are full of inspiration, information and knowledge which will be available for self storage industry members to enjoy for years to come – like a time capsule. They were filmed by Dallas Dogger and the team from R6 Digital and are available on the SSAA YouTube channel, with a new one uploaded fortnightly until the end of the year.

These will be shared on Facebook and you can also read in-depth articles in each Insider magazine.
